Leopol, July 26.

THe Poliſh Army continues Encamped at Trembowla, and in the neighborhood, where Prince Demetrius Wiſnowitski, the Great General, and the Palatine of Ruſſia, Lieutenant-General, have held ſeveral Councils of War, to take ſuch Reſolutions, as may be agreeable to the preſent ſtate of their Affairs. We have Advice, that the Army of the Moſcovites is ſeparated, and that the Troops are marching to their Quarters, which gives us a ſuſpition that they have made a Peace with the Turks, or at leaſt, that they are certain of doing it; and at the ſame time we underſtand, that to animate the Turks againſt this Crown, Advices have been ſent the Grand Vizier, that the Poles have drawn their Troops together, with a deſign to attack Caminiec.

Naples, July 30. The French men of War, who have for ſome time had their ſtation near the Iſle of Procida, ſailed from thence on Monday laſt, and have not been ſince ſeen in theſe Seas; it was at firſt believed that they were gone for Sicily, but we ſince underſtand, that the Sieur du Queſne who Commands them, had received Orders by a Felucca from Leghorn, to take his courſe towards the Iſles of Majorca and Minorca.

Venice, Aug. 10. We have Letters of a very freſh date from Conſtantinople which ſay, that the Grand Vizier had declined going with the Army into the Field this Summer, for that he apprehended he ſhould in his abſence be ſupplanted by one who is exreamly in the Grand Signiors Favour, and is no friend of his.

Presbourg, Aug. 10. There is but ſmall appearance of accommodating the affairs with the Hungarians, who among other things Demand, That they may have a free and publick Exercize of their Religion, and to that end, that all the Churches that have been taken from them be reſtored, together with their Lands and Goods that have been Confiſcated; and that ſeveral Eccleſiaſticks, whom they look upon as their declared Enemies, may be removed; which the Emperor will not conſent to, and on the other hand, ſeems reſolved to ſubdue them by force, and to that end, Count Caprara, who has with him a Body of 10000 men is advanced to Erla, which is not far from Count Teckeley's Quarters.

Ratisbonne, Aug. 21. Since the diſpatch of the Letters written by the States Aſſembled here, to the King of England, and to the French King, the Deputies of the Princes, that have ſuffered by the Proceedings of the French, have Repreſented to the Dyet, That they have not done enough in writing thoſe Letters, but that they ought at the ſame time to take care that the Places which lye moſt expoſed to the French, and are in continual danger of being Attacked by them, be provided with ſtrong Garriſons, and be put into a poſture of Defence; upon which, the Dyet have taken this Reſolution; That the Conſideration thereof ſhould be referred to a Committee; and that none but amicable means ſhould be made uſe of to obtain ſatisfaction from the French Court, for the Princes that have been injured.

Strasburg, Aug. 23. The Marquis de Louvoy is expected the 27th at Metz, and the next day at Biſek; from whence he will come to Saverne, to viſit theſe parts, and to give the neceſſary Orders about the Fortifications that are making in many places. The French Troops continue encamped within three Leagues of this place, at Suſtelenheim and Herleſheim, being divided by Monſieur de Monclar (who is gone to wait upon the King at Stenay) into two Bodies, the one Commanded by the Marquis de la Roque, and the other by the Sieur de Langalerie. This day Count Mansfelt parted from hence for France, whither he is ſent by the Emperor, to complain of the Proceedings of the French Officers which have been ſo grievous to ſeveral Princes of the Empire. The Emperor raiſes men at Francfort.

Cologne, Aug. 26. Prince William of Furſtemberg continues ſtill here; and there is a Report, that he will have the Character of Ambaſſador from the French King to the Princes on the Rhine, which we can hardly give any belief to.

Berlin, Aug. 25. The laſt week paſt through this place the Bithop of Beauvais in his way to Poland, whither he goes with the Character of Ambaſſador Extraordinary from the Crown of France. It is ſaid that he has Inſtructions to give the King of Poland all the aſſiſtance he can, in order to the ſecuring the Succeſſion of the Crown to his Son. The Elector of Saxony is ſo well recovered of his diſtemper, as to go abroad. The Plague at Dreſden increaſes every day, and there dies about 260 perſons of it in a week. From Vienna they write, that the Rebels of Hungary are very ſtrong; and that there is ground enough to fear the Turks joyning with them.

Elſenore, Aug. 20. Two days ſince came to an Anchor near this place, ſix Frigats, having Commiſſions from the Elector of Brandenburg, mounted from 18 to 20 Guns, except the Admiral, who has 24 and 300 Men: they have with them one Fireſhip, and are expecting another which is to come from the Pillow. The Deſign they are going upon, is kept very ſecret, though the general Diſcourſe is, that they are bound for the Eaſt Indies, to eſtabliſh a Colony there; or rather to ſeek Booty in thoſe parts, where the Natives Trade in ſmall Veſſels of their own.

Hamburg, Aug. 27. Theſe parts are at preſent very quiet; the Elector of Brandenburg is making very great preparations for his journey to Maegdebourg, to receive the Homage of the Magiſtrates of that
